

Cor Res 2

SECRET

Journal

Office of Legislative Counsel

Wednesday - 1 February 1956

1. Met with the Director and Messrs. Amory and Kirkpatrick, prior to the Director's appointment with the President to discuss the Mansfield Resolution. After this discussion, the draft memo for Senator Hayden on this subject was put in final form and copies delivered to Messrs. Harlow and Martin of the White House. Mr. Harlow was to use the substance of this memo in discussions with Congressman Allen of the House Rules Committee. Mr. Martin was to deliver the memo to Senator Hayden, which he did.

The Director reported that at the White House meeting the President took a very strong position against the idea of a Joint Committee on Foreign Intelligence. It is the President's view that the Mansfield Resolution should be opposed, on the grounds stated in the NSC paper which had just been approved, but in such a manner as not to challenge the good faith or reliability of any of the membership of Congress.
